IT'S TIME TO GI♥E

A LEGACY OF HOPE

Nothing personifies the mission of Bryan's House more than our Red Socks Campaign.

Bryan Allen was the first known child in Dallas to die from AIDS after being infected perinatally from his mother, who had unknowingly contracted the disease through a blood transfusion.

Bryan's mother kept him outfitted in little red socks in hopes that he would live through the holidays. Bryan lived to see his first Christmas, but he died shortly after at only 9 months old.

With nowhere to turn for help caring for her children with AIDS, Bryan's mother Lydia Allen founded Bryan's House to serve as a hospice for children infected with HIV/AIDS.

Sadly, Lydia and her older son Matthew both passed away due to complications from AIDS. We honor their memory through the Red Socks Campaign to help sustain the mission of Bryan's House: to serve children with medical or developmental needs and their families by providing specialized child care, respite care and social services.

We thank you.
